Sharing Nature: An Educator's Week, July 14-19, 2019

Scholarship will be in the amount of $1245. Recipients will be encouraged to explore additional sources to fund the remainder of costs. Award will be based on the potential for generating interest in science and the natural world in students in grades K-12 in the Green River Area.

Program Description:

Learn practical approaches and add inspiration to your environmental education curriculum during this action-packed program. Hog Island's experienced and enthusiastic instructors share their favorite approaches, methods and activities for engaging both children and adults with nature. Workshops using techniques in art, music, theater, journaling and other disciplines will be presented, as well as a host of classic Audubon Camp field trips, including a boat trip to the restored Atlantic Puffin and Tern colony on Eastern Egg Rock, intertidal explorations, and hiking through Hog Island's unspoiled spruce-fir forest. These experiences provide a wonderful opportunity to be learning outside in a beautiful setting while also considering how you can take back some of these insights and methods to your students back home. We'll be exploring citizen science, creating some inquiry-based lessons on birds and other topics, and demonstrating both low and high-tech methods of teaching.

Continuing Education Credits (CEUs) are available for completing the course from the University of Southern Maine (Please bring $20 for 4.5 credits to camp with you).
